Derrick Newbutt was the son of James Arthur and Ann Maria Newbutt of Sudbury, Middlesex which is near Wembley Stadium. The 17th Battalion, Middlesex Regiment, raised in London on 12 December 1914 was known affectionately as the 'First' Football Battalion. L/Cpl Derrick Newbutt was a member of the Territorial Force Battalion before the war and became a member of the 17th serving in B Company. L/Cpl Newbutt is mentioned on the battalion War Diary for bravery at Arras in France on 9-11 April 1917 when his unit along with other battalions in the Division captured the Blue Line. Derrick Newbutt, at the age of 26, was killed in action at Oppy Wood near Arras on 28 April 1917 while attacking the Germans. He has no known grave and is commemorated on the Arras Memorial in France. The 17th Battalion was disbanded in France less than a year later on 10 February 1918 due to lack of men because of its high casualty rate. L/Cpl Derrick's medals show him as a Private which was his substantive rank but he was acting as L/Corporal at the time of his death. His number is shown as G/43857 compared to the number 3178 recorded on his medals. This disparity arose because 3178 was his pre-war number and the other came from a renumbering programme undertaken by the British Army in 1916-17.

MM: Supplement to LG 1/11/1945, p5312.

Recommendation: For gallant and distinguished service in the field. Havildar Rattam Singh was not captured by the Japanese until four months after the capitulation of Malaya, remaining during this time stoically by the side of the C.O. attempting to evade capture. Eventually he was shipped to New Guinea and in September 1944 during a move from RAWAN to MAPRIK he and 27 Indian Other Ranks escaped, the Havildar who possessed a compass, acting as leader. All went comparatively well, though the journey was extremely hard and it was difficult to feed the party on roots and berries in the jungle, until a fortnight later they entered an apparently abandoned Japanese Camp. Here they were suddenly challenged by a Japanese Captain and his batman, but Havildar Rattam Singh called on four Indian Other Ranks to seize them and he himself beheaded them both with a 'dah'. He then led the party on and after another hard two days they were recovered by an American Patrol.

Havildar Rattam Singh showed remarkable qualities of leadership and steadfastness both during the actual escape and all through the extremely hazardous journey they undertook, and to date his is the only authenticated record of an Indian prisoner of war recovered from the South West Pacific Area who has taken extreme measures against the Japanese to facilitate escape. For his courage, powers of leadership and devotion to duty it is considered that he should be awarded the Military Medal.'

The 63rd Foot (West Suffolk) Regiment served in Australia in New South Wales, Tasmania and Western Australia. In an unpublished manuscript titled The 63rd Regiment of Foot (West Suffolk) In Australia 1829-1833 by Dr Edward D.H.Flack (a work in progress), he shows the unit deployment on 25 March 1830 when the HQs of 63rd Regiment arrived at Hobart Town in Tasmania. Here he records QMSjt James Kene. Perhaps that is why the scratching is on the medal because the recipient was unhappy that his name has been impressed incorrectly as J.Skene on the medal, or has the author mis-read records and recorded the name incorrectly?

Embarked on the Vulcan ex Cork 13Jul1852 and disembarked at Geelong, Victoria 05Nov1852; Sgt Daniel Hegarty, 40th Foot Regiment, took part in the Battle of the Eureka Stockade 03Dec1854.

An extract from the book titled, 'Eureka Stockade' by Raffaello Carboni states, 'Sergeant Hegarty, examined by the Attorney-General, 'I am a sergeant in the 40th. I was in the attack on the stockade. I was beside Captain Wise when he was shot. He (Captain Wise) was shot from the stockade. I saw the prisoner at the stockade. I was in the guard which took him to the Camp. The prisoner did not get away, I know. I saw him a prisoner in the Camp about five o'clock.'

Another extract from the book titled, 'Massacre at Eureka - The Untold Story' by Bob O'Brien states, 'Sergeant Daniel Hegarty of the 40th one of the skirmishing party, halted with the troops about twenty paces from the Stockade. They extended from the right. The 12th were extended from the right of the 40th. The troops advanced a little when the fighting began and received a good many shots which they did not return until the bugle sounded. At the bugle's sound they fired and then charged. Several of the 40th fell under the insurgents' fusillade, one pitching forward at Sergeant Hegarty's feet, bleeding from a chest wound. He saw Captain Wise fall, and pushed Magistrate Hackett aside as he attempted to staunch Wise's bleeding.'

George Richmond Cummings, Casino, Richmond River, NSW; Trooper Cummings was one of those selected from the Casino-Lismore Half-Squadrons sent to England for six months training with the Imperial Cavalry at Aldershott before going to South Africa; Invalided to Australia due to enteric fever, along with another Lancer, Trooper Charles Edward Webster; Arrived 28May1900 when the steamer Moravian berthed at Dalgety's wharf, Miller's Point. There were 17 invalids from the war on board and they were met by the Royal Australian Artillery and members of the Third Contingent drawn up as a guard of honour while the RAA Band played. The Governor Lord Beauchamp arrived and accompanied by his Excellency Admiral Pearson and Sir W.J.Lyne, the Premier, he spoke to each man. The two Lancers upon arrival at barracks in Sydney were issued with uniforms and accoutrements and regimentally invited to stay at a city hotel for a week to recuperate before returning to their homes in the Richmond River area. They were also entertained at Parramatta at the Lancers' supper and smoking concert at headquarters and an invitation was issued to the men to attend Miss Elsie Hall's recital at the YMCA Hall.

On 6Jun1900 Trooper Cummings of Casino and Trooper Webster of Ballina arrived at Ballina aboard the SS Electra. When the steamer was sighted off the entrance to the Richmond River, the paddle steamer Protector, having on board a large number of friends of the returning troopers, steamed out and accompanied her to the public wharf at Ballina. As she came alongside the Ballina Band struck up 'Home Sweet Home' and 'Soldiers of the Queen'. The Mayor welcomed the troopers and they were then driven in a four-horse drag (private coach with seats on its top) to the Australian Hotel in a procession consisting of the Cadets and a detachment of the New South Wales Lancers leading the way. At the hotel both men were carried shoulder high from the drag to the hotel between lines formed by the Cadets. Then the Mayor, accompanied by the two returning Lancers, appeared on the hotel balcony and speeches were made.

After this welcome, Trooper Cummings and his parents left Ballina for Coraki en route to Casino. A short distance out of Casino a considerable number of townspeople met the party and a torchlight procession was formed, led by members of the Oddfellows Lodge of which Trooper Cummings was a member. Once reaching town a Mayoral reception similar to that held at Ballina was staged. On the next Saturday night a complimentary smoke concert was held to welcome him home again.

In a newspaper report of the annual reunion dinner of the naval contingent held in 1913 one of those from the contingent who was present is recorded as Rev. J.D.Armitage. Armitage delivered a brief address.

Recommendation: East of Messines on the night of 9th/10th June 1917 he was in charge of a mixed carrying party of sappers and infantry, carrying stores forward to the support line for the construction of wire entanglements. Owing to the heavy barrage the men kept losing touch with each other and at great personal risk this N.C.O. moved up and down the column encouraging the party to 'close up'. He made three journeys through heavy shell fire, delivered the stores, and so enabled the wiring parties to complete their work.

Recommendation: For conspicuous bravery and determination of purpose in carrying ammunition over the open whilst being heavily shelled and fired on from machine guns and rifles. When wounded the first time he refused to leave off work and was only compelled to do so on being wounded the second time.

William Edward Grimshaw, surveyor's labourer, age 32, born at Byrock, NSW (small village in the Bourke Shire); Enl.14Jan1916 at Town Hall Recruiting Depot, Sydney, NSW; Emb.08Jul1916; WIA 03Nov1917 GSW left thigh (serious), Battle of Tel el Khuweilfe, Palestine; 4Nov1917 awarded MM; RTA 15Feb1918; Disemb.20Mar1918; Disch.12Sep1918 Medically Unfit.

William Grimshaw reported his Military Medal as lost during the Anzac Day March 1959 and under a statutory declaration requested a replacement in June 1965. A replacement was subsequently issued on 21 July 1965 by the Office of the High Commissioner of Australia in London to Central Army Records Office, Victoria. It was then forwarded to Grimshaw on 2 August 1965 by registered mail to his address at Newtown, Sydney, NSW.

William Grimshaw's 30 year old brother, Charles Edward Grimshaw, served as a trooper with B Sqn 7ALH and was KIA on 02Jun1915 at Gallipoli. He is buried at Shrapnel Valley Cemetery.

The Battle of Tel el Khuweilfe, part of the Southern Palestine Offensive, began on 1 November 1917, the day after the Egyptian Expeditionary Force (EEF) victory at the Battle of Beersheba during the Sinai and Palestine Campaign of World War I. After the stalemate in Southern Palestine a series of co-ordinated attacks were launched by British Empire units on the Ottoman Empire's German commanded Yildirim Army Group's front line, which stretched from Gaza inland to Beersheba. During fighting for the town, the road from Beersheba to Jerusalem via Hebron was cut just north of the town in the southern spur of the Judean Hills. Here Ottoman units strongly defended the road and the Seventh Army headquarters at Hebron.

Over the next week, attacks by the 53rd (Welsh) Division, the Anzac Mounted Division, and the 5th Mounted Brigade (Australian Mounted Division) attempted to capture the Khuweilfe position. Attacks were launched by the British infantry and Yeomanry cavalry, and Australian and New Zealand mounted brigades. Despite their failure to dislodge the Ottoman defenders, the continuing pressure drew in Ottoman reserves, which could have made the EEF attacks at Gaza during the night of 1/2 November more strongly contested.

EEF aerial reconnaissance had observed the Ottoman columns' movements, and Chauvel ordered the 53rd (Welsh) Division to advance to the track from Ain Kohle to Tel es Sheria in the direction of Khuweilfe, to connect with Desert Mounted Corps units holding the outpost line. At dawn, it was apparent the Ottoman defenders on Tel el Khuweilfe had been reinforced and, on the right, Major General Edward Chaytor, commanding the Anzac Mounted Division, ordered the 1st Light Horse Brigade, supported by the Inverness Battery, forward to support the 7th Mounted Brigade while the 53rd (Welsh) Division advanced on their left, to establish a line stretching from Ras en Naqb towards Tel el Khuweilfe 2.5 miles (4.0 km) away.

By 04:15, the two brigade headquarters had joined up and, by 07:00, the South Notts Hussars Regiment of the 7th Mounted Brigade had occupied Ras el Naqb, while the 1st Light Horse Regiment with two sub-sections of Machine Gun Squadron attacked on their left, to gain a horseshoe-shaped position. Two squadrons with eight Hotchkiss Rifles and four machine guns stopped attempted outflanking movements. By 08:00, they were within 350 yards of their objective on the left, but could make no further advance in that sector.

The fighting was fierce on the 3 Nov 1917 and during the battle, the 1st Light Horse Brigade suffered 16 killed and 67 wounded. It was on this day that Tpr Grimshaw was twice wounded. It was also for his actions on this day that he was awarded the Military Medal. The Battle for Tel el Khuweilfe would rage on for another three days before victory was achieved in securing the objective.

Chaplain Served in AN&MEF

Herbert Cocks was educated at Newington College, Stanmore, Sydney, NSW. He worked as a ledger clerk with the City Treasury at Town Hall, Sydney before entering Sydney University. He graduated in Arts and then at the Moore Theological College he secured 2nd class honours in the Th.L diploma of the Australian College of Theology. After this he studied at Ridley Hall, Cambridge University in England. He was ordained a deacon in 1915 and a priest in 1916 by Archbishop Wright. His first curacy was in the northern Sydney suburb of Wahroonga before he applied for a wartime commission as Chaplain and served with the AN&MEF.

In 1919 he was living at 'Olney', Church St, Hobart, Tasmania with his father, W.E.Cocks, Missions to Seamen, Hobart. While there he gave an instructive lecture at the Seamen's Institute of his experiences with the troops in tropical Rabaul. He detailed how the AN&MEF had to not only perform military duties but also administrative duties, supply lawyers, plantation managers, surveyors, customs officers, postmasters and other officials. He also outlined his duties which included four or five services daily, owing to the men being stationed in different places, and also had to discharge the duties of censor, interest himself in the affairs of the men, hospital visitations and attend to voluminous correspondence. He was practically always on duty and it is little wonder that he was physically run down by the time he returned to Australia.

He then went to India and was appointed principal of the Church Missionary Society's High School at Lucknow and chaplain of the historic Holy Trinity Church at Allahabad. In 1927 he went on a world tour visiting England, Europe, Africa and America. After his return he served in various churches in the Sydney suburbs. In 1928 he was Locum Tenens at St Luke's Rectory, Mosman. On 1 September 1929 he was appointed Rector of Holy Trinity, Erskineville and later served as Rector of St John's Ashfield from 1931-1939. He also served as Catechist at St Stephen's Penrith.

In 1939 Rev Cocks was charged with indecently assaulting a 10-year old boy at Sydney Domain Baths on 27 February and the case caused a lot of newspaper reporting at the time. The reverend had been frolicking around in the pool with the boy and was claimed to have shared a towel to lie on after bathing, all in full view of the public. The case was heard before Judge Markell in the Quarter Sessions on 27 April, the judge noting Rev Cocks' outstanding character and charitable works as well as his war service. There were many witnesses called and much of the evidence was contradictory. After just two hours of deliberation the jury delivered its verdict of Not Guilty.

Rev Cocks was a YMCA officer with the BEF and AIF in England and France when he died at Bournemouth, England on 20 August 1941 at the age of 51.

Dudley George Frederic of Stanmore applied to join AIF but was rejected. He passed the Land Surveyor's examination held at the Surveyor-General's Office, Department of Lands, Sydney on 24Mar-08Apr1922.

The Competition was held at Sydney, 6-7 June 1913. K Coy 36th Battn was the Newington College cadet unit. An account of the presentation of medals stated that a parade of four companies of cadets, inspected by Lieutenant-Colonel A. W. Wallack, C.B., District Commandant, took place on the Newington College grounds on Saturday afternoon 14 March 1914. The occasion was the presentation of gold medals, silver badges, and ribbons to the champion team in the Commonwealth series of military competitions. Companies from areas 34A (Enmore), 35A (Marrickville), 36A (Stanmore), and 36B (Petersham) took part in the parade, and as the young soldiers wheeled, formed, re-formed, and after a variety of evolutions finally marched, colours flying and bands playing, past the District Commandant and his staff, the spectacle was not lacking in impressiveness, though, except for the winning company, the marching occasionally would have been none the worse for a little more drill.

Among those present were Lieutenant-Colonel Wallack, Lieutenant-Colonel Luscombe, A.A.G., Lieutenant Brown, A. and I. Staff, Colonel Cox, 8th Lancers, Colonel Pearce, A.F.A., Rev. C. J. Prescott, headmaster of Newington College, Captain Smith, brigade major of the 9th Brigade, Major Buchanan, CO of 36th Battalion, Major Reddish, CO of 35th Battalion, Captain Caunt, CO of 34th Battalion, and the officers commanding companies. A large silver shield, presented by the British Australian Tobacco Company, was also won by K Company.

Twycross 23rd Oct. 1875.' VVL&ESM: Capt Twycross received his award at a large gathering of volunteers at Melbourne Town Hall on Wednesday evening 26 January 1881. The medals were presented by Colonel Anderson who read the following memo: 'The honour of presenting the first issue of the medals in question having devolved on the officer commanding the local forces, it is his duty to provide against mis-conceptions, which might result from a verbal address. On an occasion of so much interest and importance to the volunteer force, a clear understanding should exist as to mode in which volunteers are to prefer claims, and manner in which the medals are to be awarded. In G.O., No.77/80, it was intimated to the force that the medals would issue. After consultation with several experienced officers, the 'conditions' published on the 20th August, 1880, under the heading of 'Conditions for the issue to officers and men serving under the Volunteer Statute, 1865, of a medal 'for long and efficient service' were promulgated, and also printed on the reverse side of the 'forms' supplied to the commanding officers for claimants.' The recipients then came forward and were cheered heartily as they mounted the platform where Col Anderson pinned the medal to each man's chest.

The award of the above shooting trophy was reported in The Age (Melbourne) Mon 8 Nov 1875 as follows,

At the weekly parade of the Emerald Hill Artillery Corps held on Friday last, a handsome silver cup, value 10 guineas, was presented to Captain Twycross, he having lately won it for the third and last time. The trophy is known as the Borough Council Cup, and was given by the local council to the Emerald Hill Artillery Corps for rifle competition as far back as October 1871, the conditions being - to be shot for monthly, under handicap, the third win to be by actual score starting from scratch; five shots at 200, 500, 600 yards; any position; W.R. carbines, or Government large-bore rifles; to become the property of the first man winning it three times. Captain Twycross scored his first win in November 1873, the second in January 1874 and finally secured the trophy on 23 October 1875 with a very good total of 45 points (see note below). The presentation was made by the Mayor of Emerald Hill (Mr J.Danks) in a brief speech, which was replied to suitably by the recipient of the prize.

Note: This report is slightly wrong in the scores for the last shoot, which was the 30th contest for the Company Cup, as Capt Twycross actually scored 67 points and after deducting his handicap of 12 points means he scored 55 points starting from scratch.

Capt Twycross was heavily involved in his local community. In the 1890s as well as his involvement with the Volunteer Force he held the following positions in Horsham, Magistrate in the Court of Petty Sessions; Mayor; Vice President of The Charities' Carnival; President of Mercantile Cricket Club; Secretary of St John's Church of England Committee; President of the Hospital Committee; President of the local branch of British and Foreign Bible Society; was a member of the MUIOOF.

Official Reports Praising Major Phillips' Work

(Report 1) This officer's battery performed conspicuously good work during the action of the afternoon of 30th May 1915. The battery was ordered to co-operate with the New Zealand Artillery in an infantry enterprise on Quinn's Post. They opened and continued a steady fire over the enemy's trenches with excellent results for four and a half hours, during the whole of which time they were subjected to an intense cross fire from the enemy's field and heavy guns. This battery was engaged in a similar task early in the morning of 19th May with the same excellent results.

Major Phillips was the first field artillery officer to bring the field guns of the Australian Division into action on the 25th April, the day of the landing, and was able to silence an enemy battery near Kaba Tepe which the Navy had been unable to locate and which had been doing great damage to Australian troops during the day. From that time onwards Major Phillips frequently fought his battery under most difficult conditions and under heavy shell fire, and for days observed and directed the fire of his guns from a forward position of extreme danger.

The Brigadier-General Commanding Divisional Artillery considers the success which has attended the actions of the 4th battery and the comparatively small loss, considering the fire to which it has been subjected, is due to Major Phillips' skill and judgment in emplacing the guns and fighting his battery.

(Report 2) I desire to bring to notice of the G.O.C. 1st Aust Div: the conspicuously good work performed by the 4th Battery under Major O.F.Phillips R.A.F.A. during the action of the afternoon of 30.5.15.

The Battery was ordered to co-operate with N.Z.Art: in an enterprise at Quinns Post. - They opened and continued a steady fire over the enemy trenches with excellent results for 4 < hours during the whole of which time they were subjected to an intense cross fire from enemy field and heavy guns. I attribute their small loss viz 1 man killed 1 wounded and one gun put out of action to the excellent siting entrenching and concealment of the Battery.

The work done by this Battery in the early morning of the 19th May under very similar conditions was also excellent, in fact although constantly under heavy fire its work has been uniformly good and of the utmost value during the whole time it has been emplaced in its present position. I consider the officer commanding the Battery, Major Phillips, deserves the very greatest credit for the results achieved.

AM: LG 18/11/1892. 'Her Majesty the Queen has been graciously pleased to confer the Decoration of the Albert Medal of the Second Class on - William Borland, Sapper of the Partially Paid Submarine Mining Corps, Sydney, N.S.W.

The following is an account of the services in respect of which the Decoration has been conferred:-

On the 3rd April, 1891, a boat, containing twelve men and two officers, was engaged in submarine mining operations, about half a mile from the shore at Middle Head, Sydney, N.S.W. By the accidental explosion of a 100lb. gun-cotton mine, the after part of the boat was blown to pieces, and the two officers and two of the men were instantly killed, while the others were all more or less severely injured.

Sapper William Borland, finding the boat sinking, jumped overboard in order to lighten her, and, whilst holding on to the gunwale, supported Sapper Brentnall, who was semi-conscious. Another of the crew, named Adams, in the excitement of the moment, jumped overboard, but when some yards away, called out for help, as he was unable to swim. Borland at once swam to his assistance, and supported him until a boat arrived from the shore some considerable time after. Borland was nearest to the explosion of any of the crew, and received severe wounds on the face, arms, abdomen, and legs, besides injuries to both ears. He was in hospital several weeks, and could not follow his ordinary work for some months."

Together with original photograph of recipient in AIF uniform; copy of page from the London Gazette of November 1892; original and copies of newspaper clippings relating to the incident and the award of the Albert Medal (some with portraits and illustrations); his obituary from the Railway and Tramway Officers' Gazette and other related research.

The partially paid Submarine Miners were originally part of the Torpedo and Signalling Corps which was raised in 1873 as a special company of the New South Wales Naval Brigade. They were transferred to the military branch in 1878. The permanent section of the Submarine Miners was established in 1888. In 1893 following reorganisation of the Corps of Engineers, both partially paid and permanent sections were incorporated into the Engineers, with the whole styled as the New South Wales Corps of Engineers. The Miners comprised No.4 Company based at Chowder Bay and George's Heights.

Recommendation: On the nights 18th/19th and 19th/20th June 1918 Private Anderson acted as driver to the Ford Motor Ambulance running between the Regimental Aid Post, South East of Treux, and the Motor Loading Post, West of Buire. During these he repeatedly drove his car through barrage fire and successfully evacuated casualties. He showed indifference to danger, and splendid determination. The work of carefully driving a car in the dark, loaded with wounded, over a road pitted with shell holes, and in the villages of Treux and Buire, covered with debris demanded the greatest coolness and courage. His example set a fine standard for the other drivers of motor ambulances in the forward area and has had an excellent effect.

Bar to MM: LG 11/12/1918, p14652; CAG 14/3/1919, p426 (immediate award).

Recommendation: For very great bravery on the night of 28/29 July 1918 South East of Mericourt on the Bray-Corbie Road when acting as driver of a Ford Motor Ambulance. Great difficulty was being experienced in getting the wounded away from the Regimental Aid Post at J23 d8.9 across country over broken muddy ground. Pte Anderson having heard of this drove his car along the Bray-Corbie Road in full day light and under considerable shell fire to a point in advance of the Aid Post and turned down a bye track and so reached the Aid Post. He returned along the same road many times and so effected the rapid evacuation of a large number of wounded. His action in proceeding so far forward without having been ordered to do so along a road under full observation of the enemy and in full day light not only showed great personal bravery and devotion to duty but also was a great use in successfully evacuating the wounded from the most difficult point in the section.

James Anderson, motor mail driver, age 20, born at Drysdale near Geelong, Vic; Enl. 19Aug1914 at Melbourne, Vic with 2 years in Senior Cadets and 6 months in Militia; Emb.21Oct1914; served at Gallipoli from 25Apr1915; Appt'd Driver 2FAmb 09Aug1915; TOS 14FAmb 25Feb1916; during his service he incurred several charges for AWL and bad conduct including the use of threatening language to an NCO and insulting language to an Officer; RTA 2Oct1918 for Special Leave 1914 (Anzac Leave); Disch.23Feb1919; Died 04Jun1972.

During the operations in the vicinity of Bellicourt extending over the period 17th Sept - 17th Oct 1918 this man performed the duties of Motor Cyclist Despatch Rider. Riding under most adverse conditions - bad roads, heavy traffic, rain and without headlight, he displayed great coolness, devotion to duty and resource in the management of his machine. In particular on the night of 8th, 9th Oct 1918 when charged with the delivery of urgent Barrage Orders to Artillery Groups, he set out on the Estrees-Bellicourt Road which was packed with traffic subject to shell fire and an attack by enemy bombing machines. Although injured and severely shaken through having collided with a bolting ammunition wagon, he succeeded in delivering his Despatches without delay. His great physical effort, courage and devotion to duty on this occasion was one of the many that transpired during the advance to the river Belle.

Report of death of Lt A.W.Parkes

'On the night of 15.7.17 the Trench Mortar Batteries were detailed to carry a certain number of bombs from a Dump on the Main Road at Ypres to a forward 6th Newton Mortar Position situated about 200 yds off that road at a point about three-quarters of a mile from the Dump. This duty took the party through the notorious "Hell Fire Corner".'

The whole of the area was, on the above-mentioned night, subjected to intense enemy shell fire, including H.E. Shrapnel and Gas. The forward trip was negotiated without mishap and Lieut. Parkes was then detailed to return with a party of 10 men to bring forward a further bomb per man to complete the total number required. This party reached the Dump safely, collected their bombs and passed through "Hell Fire Corner" about 250 yds when an H.E. shell burst on the road immediately in front of the deceased Officer, wounding him severely in the chest. The party at once moved him from the road under cover of an embankment but he did not recover consciousness and died within 5 minutes of the time he was hit. He therefore suffered no pain. There were subsequently many casualties that same night owing to the intensity of the bombardment.

Next day Lieut Parkes was buried in the presence, as far as can be remembered, of Capt. H.H.Morris, Lieut. W.H.Bryan (MC) and some members of his unit in a ceremony about 180 yards from Dump and opposite the Dressing Station on the Menin Road at Ypres. Map locations are not available from records of the Unit.

Later file records dated 25Nov1925 state that the remains of the late Lt. Parkes were interred in Plot 1 Row T Grave 1 of the Menin Road South Military Cemetery, Ypres, Belgium.

Capt. Morris and Lt. Bryan are at present on leave and the above information is supplied and corroborated by the only two O/Ranks now with the unit, who were of the deceased Officer's party, saw him wounded and were with him till he died.'

In an Evening News (Sydney) newspaper account dated 4 December 1929 of the death of the famous German air ace, Baron Manfred von Richthofen, better known as 'The Red Baron', ex-Cpl E.J.McCarty wrote, 'I happened to be a medical corporal with the 3rd Squadron A.F.C. which got body and machine. The bullet that killed Richthofen entered the right side and came out through the apex of the heart. The cable stated that he was shot in the chest and mouth, which is wrong. The wing doctor and myself held a post-mortem examination to try to locate the bullet and to see if an opinion could be formed as to the angle at which he had been shot and the type of gun that had fired. It proved that Richthofen had been shot from the ground. I also laid the German Ace out for burial.'

In the book, 'Who killed the Red Baron' by P.J.Carissella and James W.Ryan, published 1979, pp193-94 it gives an account of the medical orderly, E.J.McCarty, who prepared the Red Baron's body for autopsy and states, 'While the guards stood back, McCarty unbuttoned the Baron's outer fur-lined jacket. Then with the help of a guard, he slipped it down over the shoulders and arms of the corpse. He then undid the buttons of the Baron's inner flying jacket. As he struggled to slip that jacket over the shoulders and arms, he saw a large wallet tucked into a left breast pocket. McCarty quickly tugged the wallet out of the pocket, with a wink at the guard. When he did so, a spent bullet popped out with it and fell into the lining of the jacket. McCarty snatched up the slug and stuck it into his trouser pocket.' The book further states that McCarty claimed that the bullet was lost in 1935 'when his mother died and he burned all sorts of papers and the bullet was lost in the debris.'

MM: LG 4/10/1934; CAG 27/9/1945 South Bougainville - Buin Road - Aitara Trail.

For outstanding devotion to duty, calm bearing under heavy fire and conspicuous conduct in attending to the wounded while carrying out the duties of medical orderly. Pte Tweed is B Company medical aid post orderly. On 22nd May 1945, B Company was consolidating on its objective after a successful battalion attack east of the Hongorai River on the Buin Road. As the men were digging the weapon pits the position was subjected to intense, accurate enemy shelling and heavy machine gun fire, which caused serious casualties to our troops. With complete unconcern for the enemy fire, Pte Tweed showing remarkable devotion to duty, moved coolly around the company area attending the many wounded. Despite the fact that he was blown off his feet three times by the blast from 150 millimetre shells, he carried on with great determination and courage, to give medical aid to those in need. As Pte Tweed continued this sterling work he was wounded in the foot and the shoulder, but with amazing fortitude, he carried on doing magnificent work. Only when all were attended to and evacuated to the regimental aid post, did Pte Tweed allow himself to be evacuated, and then it was on the order of the Company Commander. Pte Tweed's inspiring courage and extreme devotion to his duty, as well as his calm bearing during the enemy fire and concentrations had a splendid influence on the moral of the Company. His gallant conduct and cheerful manner has been a constant source of pride and example to the members of his Company.

Note on back of frame indicates the GSM is the only medal issued to Lt Bayliss and the others are for display purposes only.

Lt Bayliss committed suicide on 19 February 1963. The report in The Courier Mail, Thursday 21 February 1963, p5 stated, 'A young Army lieutenant who was shot with a sub-machine gun on Tuesday night had been involved in a broken romance. Police learned this yesterday. The dead man was Lindsay Herbert Bayliss, 23, single, of the 3rd Royal Australian Regiment, Enoggera. Yesterday, police learned that Bayliss knocked on the door of Lieutenant Maurice Sheehan, at Enoggera Army Camp, and asked to see Sheehan's Owen gun, which was on issue to him.

Bayliss and Sheehan had some discussion about the weapon. Police said that Bayliss then snapped a fully-loaded magazine on to the gun, stepped on to the veranda, and shot himself in a burst of fire. Of eight nine millimetre bullets fired, three struck Bayliss in the head. Bayliss' home was at Orange (N.S.W.). A note found in his room said his own sub-machine gun was in store, and he intended to take one from somebody who was "unsuspecting".'

Silver Star: Major Gerald J. Robinson distinguished himself by gallantry... over North Vietnam on 12 August 1967. On that date, Major Robinson was the leader of a flight of four F-105's assigned to attack a vital railroad and highway bridge. Ignoring the imminent danger of immense flak, surface-to-air missiles and MIG's, he delivered his ordnance on target destroying the bridge. On egress, without regard for personal safety, he exposed himself to heavy hostile fire while giving aid to a crippled flight member...

Silver Star (First OLC): ... over North Vietnam on 2 August 1967. On that date, Major Robinson led the last flight of four F-105 Thunderchiefs in a strike force of twenty aircraft against the heavily defended Thai Ng Rail Yard, deep in North Vietnam. In spite of the intense hostile fire which damaged several aircraft preceding him on the strike, Major Robinson pressed the attack. Weaving his flight through ever increasing barrages of anti-aircraft fire he led them on a devastating bomb run, interdicting the vital south choke point of the target...

DFC: First Lieutenant Gerald J. Robinson distinguished himself by extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight as a pilot of an F-84 Thunderjet which participated in Operation Handclasp II on 18 May 1955. Lieutenant Robinson was chosen to pilot one of four F-84 Thunderjet aircraft from Yokota Air Base, Japan to Williamstown, Australia, as part of the good will mission "Operation Handclasp II". As a participant in this operation, the longest non-stop flight in the history of jet fighter aircraft, Lieutenant Robinson traversed the distance of 4,840 miles in 12 hours and 2 minutes. Enroute his aircraft was refuelled in mid-air over Guam, Manus Island, and Townsville, Australia. The successful completion of the flight served to foster and cement the amicable relations existing between the people of Australia and the United States. In addition, it forcefully demonstrated the capability of the United States Air Force to move its forces at jet speed to any place they might be needed in the Pacific. Through his exceptional airmanship, his devotion to duty and his participation in this history-making mission, Lieutenant Robinson reflected great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

DFC (First - Eighth OLC): ...all for outstanding airmanship and courage on various mission dates over North Vietnam during 1967.

Air Medal (with Eleven OLC): ...all for outstanding airmanship and courage on various mission dates over North Vietnam during 1967.

MSM: Lieutenant Colonel Gerald J. Robinson distinguished himself in the performance of outstanding services to the United States while assigned as Assistant Deputy Commander of Operations, 406th Tactical Fighter Training Wing, Zaragoza Air Base, Spain, from 30 July 1970 to 31 October 1974. During this period, the exemplary ability, diligence, and devotion to duty of Colonel Robinson were instrumental factors in the resolution of many complex problems of major importance to the Air Force. The singularly distinctive accomplishments of Colonel Robinson culminate a distinguished career in the service of his country and reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

Gerald James Robinson born 1 November 1929 at Carbondale, Pennsylvania, died 13 November 1983 at Palm Springs, California. Served with USAF from 1 March 1952 to 31 October 1974 retiring at the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He served in various locations including Japan, France, Germany, Thailand, and Spain as well as several postings in USA and in various roles ranging from Jet Fighter Pilot to Squadron Commander and WG Asst Deputy Commander for Operations in Spain and Chief of Avionic/Missile Branch in Langley, Virginia. He completed 100 aerial combat missions with 256.5 combat hours in the Vietnam Air Offensive Campaigns Phase I and Phase II.

Meade, Maryland. Petty Officer Crisp consistently carried out an exceptionally valuable and effective program of intelligence analysis and production, which was essential in maintaining the high standards of support required by the Chief of Naval Operations, the Fleet Commanders, and the Washington-level intelligence community, in a field of major concern to the national security, and the war effort in Southeast Asia. Throughout his tour, Chief Petty Officer Crisp performed his duties under the imminent threat of enemy terrorist squads and main line units, and was subjected to numerous rocket and mortar attacks. His devotion to duty, leadership, and exemplary professionalism, were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service.
