The Record and Emerald Hill and Sandridge Advertiser, Friday 5 November 1875, page 3 printed the following report in relation to the Melbourne Exhibition. 'In candles nothing can approach the stand exhibited by Messrs. Kitchen and Sons of the Stearine Works, Sandridge-bend, for which the firm takes the first prize medal. The exhibit presents a most attractive appearance being tastefully mounted on an elegant rotunda, but as an ornament it is far inferior to its practical ability as an illuminating power of the first order. All kinds of candles are shown, the numerous varieties differing greatly in all save the one item of quality which is undeniable in all. The characteristic of Messrs. Kitchen and Sons' goods is a pearl like transparency of snowy whiteness to which purity is due, the brilliant light for which their brands are distinguished. The exhibition sample is to be forwarded to Philadelphia.'

$500

Edward Charles Cracknell was born at Rochester on the 22nd of May, 1831. At an early age he went to London, where he served an apprenticeship of some years to a chemical and philosophical instrument maker and then spent a few months in the works of a telegraph engineer.

In 1855 he proceeded to Adelaide to take up the duties of Assistant Superintendent of Telegraphs for the South Australian Government and in 1857 he was appointed to a similar post in New South Wales. Early in the following year he opened a telegraph line between Sydney and the town of Liverpool, a distance of 22 miles. This was the third line in the colony; the first connecting Sydney with Parramatta and the second Sydney with South Head. On the retirement of Captain (now Colonel) B. H. Martindale in 1861, Mr. Cracknell was appointed Superintendent of Telegraphs, a post which he held until his death.

Some idea of the work he carried out may be obtained when it is stated that there are now in the colony of New South Wales about 600 telegraph- and telephone-stations and over 22,000 miles of line open, and that the equipment of the various stations and offices is of the most complete and modern kind.

Mr. Cracknell took great interest in the scientific side of military work and in 1874 received a commission as Lieutenant in the Torpedo Corps attached to the Naval Brigade of the colony. Three years later, when this corps was transferred to the Military Department under the style of the Submarine Miners Corps, he was promoted to the rank of Major and in 1886 was gazetted Lieutenant-Colonel Commanding. It was from over exertion in connection with an all-day parade of this corps that he contracted the attack of angina pectoris which ended fatally on the 7th of January, 1893.

Mr. Cracknell was a most capable and efficient chief of the Telegraph Department of New South Wales. In 1885 he represented that colony at the Berlin Postal Conference, from which he brought back and subsequently made use of much valuable information. The duplex and quadruplex systems, now generally used throughout Australia, were introduced by him. Mr. Cracknell was elected an Associate of the Institution on the 6th of March, 1866, was placed in the class of Associate Member on its creation in 1878, and was transferred to the class of Member on the 30th of March, 1886.

Together with case and page from the Society's 1917 Annual Report detailing the rescue.

On August 8th, 1917, a lady named Mrs. Wilkinson fell into the Harbour from the Neutral Bay Wharf at Circular Quay. Mr. Ramsden on seeing the dangerous position she was in and not being able to swim himself, at once threw a life buoy which she was, however, not able to grasp. He then jumped into the water and with much difficulty reached the buoy, which supported him, and with one hand managed to keep the woman above water until they were both pulled in by the rope attached to the buoy. Thomas Samuel Ramsden was awarded the Society's Bronze Medal and Certificate of Merit.

'S.J.H. CUP Final

Keen interest was evinced by local amateurs on Saturday last, when the final ownership of the S.J.H. Cup was decided. Davis and Gazzard, who for some time past had been running neck-and-neck with each other for this Cup, had to finally settle the matter, as last Saturday's race was the final one of the Cup competition. After a very exciting race Davis finished first, thus securing the Cup, the fast-improving Triggs being second and Gazzard third. Triggs also secured fastest time. Davis thus secured the Cup, whilst Gazzard, the runner-up, received a handsome medal.'

On Sunday morning last eighteen members of the local Fire Brigade, headed by their captain (Mr. V. J. Prunster) were seen marching in full uniform from the Fire Station to the Town Hall, where they were received in the Mayor's Parlour by the Mayor (Mr. A. Thorn) and Town Clerk (Mr. P. A. Stewart). The function was arranged for the purpose of presenting to Fireman L. E. Trew a 15 years' long service medal. The Mayor, in making the presentation, congratulated Fireman Trew on being one of those volunteers who so tirelessly stick to their job, serving the ratepayers and public generally. "It is very pleasing to see men such as you are in the Fire Brigade," he said, "stick to their job for so many years- I even recall presenting a 20 years' badge to a member recently, which goes to show that they are ever ready to do what is required of them. They are deserving of every praise, as without a fire brigade in the town insurance rates would be ever so much higher." Fireman Trew suitably responded, thanking the Mayor for making the presentation.

Bravery Medal: granted 19/5/1999 to Anthony Shane Day in recognition of an act of bravery in hazardous circumstances.

Citation: On the morning of 7 July 1996, Mr Day rescued two children from a burning building at Davoren Park.

Mr Day, on hearing screams, was alerted to a fire in the house across the road. On running to assist, he saw a woman lying down in the front yard and heard her screaming that her three children were still inside. Mr Day then heard screams coming from within the house. He immediately entered the house through the front door. Thick smoke made breathing difficult, forcing Mr Day to crawl on his hands and knees. Mr Day crawled into the lounge room that was located at the front of the house. Mr Day called out to the children in an attempt to locate them as the smoke had reduced visibility considerably. He found a small girl in the corner of the room. Mr Day picked her up and ran with the child out through the front entrance. Mr Day handed the child to the mother and immediately re-entered the house, crawling again on his hands and knees until he located a small boy under the window in the lounge room. Mr Day picked up the boy and ran outside. Mr Day, believing the third child was still trapped in another part of the house, ran around to the back of the house to attempt a re-entry but, on arrival, saw the third child being brought safely outside.

By his actions, Mr Day displayed considerable bravery.

Medal presented to Mr Day by His Excellency the Governor of South Australia on 8 September 1999 at Government House, Adelaide, South Australia.

RHS (UK) Stanhope Gold Medal - awarded in 1997.

The Royal Humane Society of Australasia awarded Anthony Shane Day, chef, aged 17 years, of Andrews Farm, SA the Clarke Silver Medal (award no 10337) in 1997 for his brave actions and also advised him that the details of the rescue would be forwarded to London for consideration for the Stanhope Gold Medal, a Royal Humane Society (UK) award, open for competition amongst all Commonwealth Societies since 1962.

Case submitted by RHSA to RHS (UK) for the Stanhope Gold Medal 1997.

Place/Time: Pix Road, Davoren Park, South Australia.

Conditions: House fire.

Salvor: Anthony Shane Day (17) Chef.

Saved: Soraya Yardley (5), Joshua Yardley (4), Natasha Yardley (2).

Summary: Day heard a woman screaming from across the road and saw that her house was on fire. He ran to the woman, who was crying out for her three children still in the house. He could hear the children screaming from within the house.

With thick black smoke billowing through the front door, Day ran into the house where he was forced to his hands and knees by the suffocating smoke, and began crawling around the lounge room yelling for the children as he went. He eventually found Soraya huddled in a corner, picked her up, ran out through the front door and put her on the lawn near her mother. He immediately re-entered the burning house and, again crawling on the floor, found Joshua under the lounge room window and carried him to safety. Fearing that the third child was still in the house, he then ran to the back of the house and saw two other men rescuing her. All were taken to hospital and treated for smoke inhalation, burns, cuts and bruises. The house was destroyed by fire.

Day also awarded the Clarke Medal in Silver of the RHSA, although this was purely a symbolic award and not actually presented.

Subsequently his nomination for the Stanhope Gold Medal was selected and he was presented with that medal rather than the Clarke Medal since the Stanhope award is the senior of the two.

The Stanhope Gold Medal was presented to Anthony Shane Day by His Excellency the Honourable Sir William Deane, AC, KBE, Governor-General of Australia on 14 September 1998 at Adelaide Town Hall, Adelaide, South Australia.

At that time, only one other South Australian (Trevor Allen Viney in 1989) had been a recipient of the Stanhope Gold Medal. In the words of the South Australian Police Commissioner, Mr Mal Hyde, Mr Day was the 'bravest of the brave'. And the rescued children's mother, Mrs Anja Spencer said, 'I was in the bedroom and woke to the smell of smoke. I smashed the lounge room window and screamed for help. I remember seeing Anthony (Mr Day) running across the street buttoning his shirt. Anthony risked his life for my kids and I think he's just great.'

Henry Jones was born in Hobart in 1862. From age 13 he worked in George Peacock's jam making business pasting labels on cans. He attended Hobart Night School and by age 24 he was made factory manager. After running into financial difficulties Peacock's son Earnest, together with Henry Jones and Achalen Palfreyman took over the business. Under the new directorship the firm expanded throughout Australia and to Melbourne where the Australian Jam Company's factory was built. The company was involved in jam and preserve making as well as hop production, export and shipping, timber and farming. Henry Jones was knighted in 1919 and died in 1926. Palfreyman took over the jam making side of the business at the Melbourne headquarters until his death in 1965. By the 1970s the factory was looking old and tired. It was decided to build a shopping centre on the site using as much as possible of the existing buildings.
