$250

When Emanuele Filiberto succeeded his father Carlo III in 1553 he was essentially a duke without a duchy. A series of wars involving French, Spanish and Swiss forces had devastated Savoy, and by 1536 Francis I had brought the duchy under complete French rule. Emanuele in exile served the king of Spain, as governor-general of the Lowlands, and in 1557 delivered a devastating defeat to the French at St. Quentin. As part of subsequent negotiations the Duke was confirmed as the independent ruler of Savoy, assuming full control of his duchy in 1559. Emmanuel Philibert made Turin his capital, thus shifting the centre of his duchy from France to Italy, and Savoy's growing influence in Italian affairs led to the establishment of the House of Savoy as the royal Italian house in 1861.

Akbar, (A.H. 963-1014, A.D. 1556-1605), silver rupee, Dawal Bundar mint, not dated, Ardibehest month, (KM.93.9, PML 346). Good very fine and extremely rare.

The type for this mint is listed in only the Lahore catalogue and is not present in any of the other major published catalogues. The mint is located in the province of Sind and was an old river port. Whitehead claimed that it was issued in probably RY 42 but this does not seem substituted by the illustration or the text, however other examples are known with the RY 42. The mint of Dewal Bandar or Dewal as it was first read was published in a paper called "Some Novelities in Mughal Coins" published in the Numismatic Chronicle in 1896 and it was present then in only the White King Collection.
